Fellowships

Diversity Fellowships

Johns Hopkins is a community committed to sharing values of diversity and inclusion in order to achieve and sustain excellence. We firmly believe that we can best promote excellence by recruiting and retaining a diverse group of students, faculty and staff and by creating a climate of respect that is supportive of their success. This climate for diversity, inclusion and excellence is critical to attaining the best research, scholarship, teaching, health care, and other strategic goals of the Health System and the University. Taken together these values are recognized and supported fully by the Johns Hopkins Institutions leadership at all levels. Further, we recognize that the responsibility for excellence, diversity and inclusion lies with all of us at the Institutions: leadership, administration, faculty, staff and students.

KSAS-Specific Graduate Fellowship Information

The Krieger School of Arts and Sciences offers an incredible array of opportunities for student researchers in the areas of natural science, social science, and humanities. Visit the KSAS Research (<https://krieger.jhu.edu/research/>) page for more information.

Veterans Educational Benefits

Office of Veterans Affairs

Johns Hopkins University is approved by the Maryland Higher Education Commission to provide education and training to veterans, active-duty service members, and eligible spouses and dependents enrolled in degree or certificate programs approved by the State Approving Agency. Enrollment certifications are submitted to the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) in accordance with applicable federal and state laws governing veterans' educational benefits.

Johns Hopkins University fully complies with Section 103.1(b) of the Veterans Benefits and Transition Act of 2018. In accordance with this provision, the University does not impose penalties - including the assessment of late fees, denial of access to classes, libraries, or other institutional facilities, or the requirement to secure additional financing - on any covered individual whose inability to meet financial obligations is due to delayed disbursement of funding under Chapter 31 (Veteran Readiness and Employment) or Chapter 33 (Post-9/11 GI Bill®) programs administered by the VA. The University also participates in the Principles of Excellence program.

To prevent outstanding balances, students utilizing Chapter 31 or Chapter 33 benefits must:

- Submit a Certificate of Eligibility or Statement of Benefits (Chapter 33);
- Maintain a current VR&E Purchase Order authorization on file (Chapter 31);
- Complete a Third-Party Payer VA certification request each term; and
- Provide any additional information required to certify enrollment.

Students are encouraged to contact the Office of Veterans Affairs (<https://support.sis.jhu.edu/find-answers/records-and-registration/veteran-benefits-inquiry/>) for guidance on the use of VA education benefits.

Standards of Progress

Continued eligibility for VA educational benefits is contingent upon the student's maintenance of satisfactory academic progress, conduct, and attendance, in accordance with University policies and VA requirements.

Military Tuition Assistance (TA)

Johns Hopkins University is approved by the U.S. Department of Defense to administer Military Tuition Assistance (TA). Students seeking to utilize TA should consult University Military TA resources for application procedures and eligibility requirements.
