COURSE POLICIES

Course Drop or Withdrawal Policy
After the add/drop period, a student, who is not requesting a leave of absence from the program, may only drop or withdraw from one required course one time during their matriculation as a student in the program. If a student drops or withdraws from any additional course, the student will not be able to progress in the program. This does not pertain to a student who is requesting a leave of absence from the program. Changes to a student’s program or course load may result in additional time to degree completion and additional tuition charges and fees in subsequent semesters of enrollment.

Process and Transcript Notation
If a class is dropped before 50% of the class is completed, no notation is made on the academic record. The adviser is required to sign the Add/Drop form for all required course drop/withdrawals after the add/drop period, and a copy of the form must be sent to the course coordinator.

After 50% through 70% of the scheduled classes have met, a “W” is recorded on the transcript. The adviser and Program Director are required to sign the Add/Drop form for required course drop/withdrawals at the 50% to 70% completion mark. A copy of the form must be sent to the course coordinator.

After 70% of the scheduled classes have met, the course coordinator will note on the form whether the student is receiving a passing grade for the course at the time of withdrawal. The determination will be based on the grade(s) achieved for all test(s) and other graded requirements that are due on or before that date. A “WP” (Withdrawn Passing) or “WF” (Withdrawn Failing), as appropriate, is recorded on the transcript. The signatures of the course coordinator, the adviser, and the Director of the Program are required on the add/drop form to withdraw from a class after the 70% completion mark.

See the Course Refund Policy (p. 1) section to determine the amount of tuition to be refunded.

Course Warnings
The purpose of a course warning is to alert a student that they are in jeopardy of not obtaining a passing grade in a course. This mechanism is in place so that an academic success plan may be created to assist the student in the course and prevent possible failure of the course.

A course warning is a written document, prepared by the faculty member who is responsible for the course, and sent to the student, the student’s Academic Advisor(s), the Program Director, and the relevant Associate Program Director (if any) at midterm of a course. A course warning is not part of the student’s permanent record.
