

GENDER AND HEALTH, CERTIFICATE

Gender and Health Certificate Program OVERVIEW

The Certificate Program in Gender and Health will provide concrete training in gender and health with particular focus on gender theories, gender analysis, gender-based violence research methods, gender and sexuality, gender and women's health, gender and men's health, and intersectionality. Gender as applied to public health is a burgeoning field, and many NGOs and multi-lateral organizations have specific gender specialist positions; this Certificate Program is designed to give students the knowledge and skills to work in this area.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the certificate program, students will be able to:

1. Explain the role of gender in shaping health inequities and recognize how gender health inequities affect health research and interventions.
2. Apply gender analysis and gender concepts to leading related health topics related to women's, men's and people with other gender identities' health, including sexual/reproductive health and gender-based violence.
3. Incorporate gender analysis into health research and interventions.

ADMISSIONS

Contact information and complete certificate program admission information is available on the certificate program page (<https://publichealth.jhu.edu/academics/gender-and-health-certificate-program/>) on the Bloomberg School of Public Health website.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION

The certificate requires a minimum of 18 term credits. All required and elective courses must be taken for a letter grade; a minimum grade of C is required in all certificate coursework and students must maintain a 2.75 or better overall GPA for all certificate coursework. The certificate program length is flexible; it varies from student to student, however, the certificate must be completed within three years.

The student should review the section of the website that addresses completion (https://www.jhsph.edu/academics/certificate-programs/JHSPH_certificate_completion.html) before completing certificate program requirements. The student's transcripts will not indicate that the certificate was earned until the Notification of Completion form has been submitted, verified by the certificate program, and processed by the Registrar.

COURSE OF STUDY

Students should check the JHSPH course directory (<https://www.jhsph.edu/courses/>) to confirm when courses are offered. Students should also check for prerequisites and whether instructor consent is required.
