

HEALTH DISPARITIES AND HEALTH INEQUALITY, CERTIFICATE

Health Disparities and Health Inequality Certificate Program

OVERVIEW

The goal of the certificate program is to train future leaders in research on health disparities and health inequality and to train individuals to identify the underlying causes of health inequalities and how to develop and implement effective solutions.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this certificate program, students will:

1. Become knowledgeable of the current research on health disparities and health inequalities
2. Become knowledgeable on the underlying cause of health inequalities
3. Be able to identify, describe, and be knowledgeable regarding possible solutions to address/reduce health inequalities in different populations

ADMISSIONS INFORMATION

Contact information and complete information about applying to the certificate program can be found on the Bloomberg School of Public Health certificate program webpage (<https://publichealth.jhu.edu/academics/health-disparities-and-health-inequality-certificate-program/>).

REQUIREMENTS FOR SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION

The requirements for the certificate program consist of taking the required Seminar in Health Disparities course, two terms of the Health Disparities Journal Club course, and taking thirteen or more credits from the elective courses listed below. All required and elective courses must be taken for a letter grade; a minimum grade of C is required in all certificate coursework, and students must maintain a 2.75 or better overall GPA for all certificate coursework. The certificate program length is flexible and varies from student to student. However, the program must be completed within three years.

The student should review the section of the website that addresses completion (<https://publichealth.jhu.edu/academics/certificate-programs/requirements-for-successful-completion-of-a-certificate-program/>) before completing certificate program requirements. The student's transcript will not indicate that the certificate was earned until the Notification of Completion has been submitted, verified by the certificate review committee, and processed by the Registrar.

COURSE OF STUDY

The certificate requires a minimum of 18 academic credits of coursework. Questions regarding the course of study should be directed to the faculty sponsors.

Students should check the BSPH course directory (<https://publichealth.jhu.edu/courses/>) to confirm when courses are offered. Students should also check for prerequisites and whether instructor consent is required.
