PhD/MBA

Designed for exceptional scholars at the intersection of scientific discovery and strategic leadership, the PhD/MBA dual degree program—offered jointly by the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and the Carey Business School—prepares students to translate complex research into actionable solutions that impact the global health care ecosystem. This five-year, full-time program allows current Johns Hopkins public health doctoral students to obtain an MBA. Graduates emerge uniquely equipped to lead cross-sector initiatives, drive innovation, and bring cutting-edge research to the global marketplace.

Interested applicants should visit the PhD/MBA program's website (<https://carey.jhu.edu/programs/dual-degrees/phd-mba/>) for full details on admission requirements and application procedures.
