

LEADERSHIP STUDIES, MINOR

<https://engineering.jhu.edu/cle/academics/undergraduate-studies/leadership-studies-minor/>

The Leadership Studies minor offers Johns Hopkins Arts & Sciences, Engineering, and Peabody students a broad array of courses that help them to position themselves as leaders among their peers in entrepreneurial ventures in private industry, government, and academia. The minor offers a multidisciplinary approach that focuses on organizational and contextual aspects of leadership and personal development.

The minor in leadership studies, part of the Center for Leadership Education (<https://e-catalogue.jhu.edu/engineering/leadership-education/>), offers students a diversified learning experience that emphasizes the concepts, practices, and skills necessary for effective leadership as managers and entrepreneurs in the public and private sectors.

Some students simply take a course or two. Many choose to fulfill the eight-course Leadership Studies minor, pairing it with their engineering, liberal arts, or public health major. The minor's four core courses provide a strong foundation in the fundamentals of entrepreneurial enterprises.

Students can then select any three upper-level courses to complete the minor or elect to focus further in the areas of Social Enterprise, Science Policy, or Leadership for Health Professionals.

The Capstone Experience

In the Leadership Studies capstone experience, students gain hands-on experience through the development of a project in which they practice leadership. Options for the Capstone Experience include (but are not limited to):

- Experiential Social Entrepreneurship
- Developing an Environmental Venture
- Leading Educational Initiatives
- Leadership in a JHU approved student organization

All Capstone Experience projects must be approved by the director of the Leadership Studies minor before enrollment in the Leadership Studies Capstone course. Projects must be team based, require strong communication, exhibit measurable results, and exist within external-facing organizations.

Course and Grade Rules and Limitations

The Leadership Studies minor requires a minimum of 21 credits.

A maximum of one "S" course may be applied to the minor.
